

The Political Leadership and Governance Programme (PLGP): The Political Leadership and Governance Programme (PLGP) emanates from FES' renowned Political Leadership Development Programme (PLDP). The PLDP was designed as a special intervention to create a new political leadership culture in Kenya and this it has done with significant success. Like its predecessor, the PLGP seeks to nurture and promote value-driven leadership for good governance in a democratic society. The focus this time will be political parties. The programme aims to assist young members as reformers and leaders of political parties. Thus it targets young men and women who are already engaged in political party work.

Young activists are provided with skills relevant for leadership at all levels within the party structures. The training will also offer an opportunity for young people to create and strengthen a youth leadership and mentorship network through linkages at both national and county levels. Further, beginning with political parties, FES intends that the training will facilitate a paradigm shift in Kenyan leadership culture to one that is issues and development based and driven by values.
